People often bring wine bottles to family celebrations, parties, friends' gatherings, etc.

Why not use sustainable cloth bags to 'wrap' the bottles, which could be used many times and that are part of the gift?

During the pandemic, there have been no in-person dinners, no at home hosting or gatherings.

Being at home for days, everyone went through their stuff and 'cleaned up' closets. I did, too.

So, instead of discarding remnants of thick fabric (that would have gone to the landfill), I sewed cloth wine bags.

It was fun and a great way to pass the time while cooped at home. Being creative and reusing pieces of fabric, beads, ribbons, etc. resulted in over 30 original and unique cloth wine bags.
